Overview

The information provided here is intended to assist all members of the CUI community who encounter students contemplating suicide. When uncomfortable with or unsure of the procedure, please contact Campus Safety and/or the Counseling Center.

Suicidal threats and attempts are a person’s way of letting others know that he or she needs help. They should never be taken lightly or only as a “bluff.” Most people who threaten and/or attempt suicide more than once usually succeed if they are not stopped. Emergency care and hospitalization are necessary after an attempted suicide. Persons with suicidal thoughts should seek counseling and may need medical treatment.

Warning signs:
- Sudden changes in behavior: eating, sleeping, friends, grades, not going to classes, neglecting personal appearance, quitting activities
- Giving away valued possessions
- Out of touch with reality.
- High risk behavior (drugs, alcohol, recklessness)
- Suicide threats (direct or veiled)
- Depression - isolation and withdrawal
- Aggressive, rebellious, disobedient behavior
- Loss in their personal life
- They appear to be "getting their house in order" (taking care of loose ends, saying goodbye to friends and family, etc.)

If you have helped a CUI student who has been suicidal and have not reported it to an RA, the Counseling Center, Campus Safety, or Campus Ministry, please do so. These offices have staff who are trained to assist students who need treatment related to suicidal threats or attempts.

Immediate Response
First Contact (Faculty, Staff, or Student)
- Assess the situation and the severity of the threat.

Question Steps:
- Three important questions to ask an individual whom you think might be suicidal:
  1. Are you thinking about suicide? (If the answer is “Yes, but I couldn’t do that because…” the prognosis is more encouraging; however, you want to ask the next question.)
  2. Have you thought about how you would do it? (If there is no plan, then the prognosis is better; however, if there is a plan, then ask the next question.)
  3. Is the method (pills, weapons, etc.) available to you? (If it is, contact campus safety or the counseling center. DO NOT LEAVE THE PERSON ALONE.)

Action Steps:
- If student has taken action or the suicidal threat appears imminent:
  - Call 911 first and then call Campus Safety at (949) 214-3000.
  - Remain with student until help arrives.
