Pelican Hill Golf: Two Rounds

Enjoy two rounds of golf at Pelican Hill Golf Course. North Course description: Deep ocean views to the horizon guide all 18 tee shots on the North Course. Open canyons and elevated plateaus with a palette of one hundred colors contrast the distinct green edges of the fairways and greens. One can feel complete isolation on this course – experience only the sounds of birds' wings and the salubrious perfume of unique flora. With several holes on the cliff's edge, the Pacific Ocean draws focus from the green, beckoning players to experience one of the finer points of the course. South Course description: Ocean south is a flow of contrasts: from brush gardens framed by sage and eucalyptus trees, to the greens which drop at every side by deep chasms.

The sheer variety of vegetation on the South Course makes playing quite the experience, surrounded by appealing hints at florals and the ocean winds as they breeze through the course.

Several holes permit 270 degree views of the vast Pacific, with the sight of sea-birds and sailboats guiding the fresh ocean breeze.

“Faster, Higher, Stronger” signed Lithograph

Wyland created this lithograph for the Beijing 2008 Olympic Games. In this magnificent commemorative painting, Wyland showcases nature’s ultimate athletes, a trio of powerful dolphins surging through heavy seas, to represent the Olympic motto, “Faster, Higher, Stronger.” It is hand signed, numbered and framed.

Renowned marine life artist Wyland changed the way people think about our environment when he started painting life-size whales on the sides of buildings in the 1980s. Today, the Wyland name has become synonymous with the new generation of awareness about environmental conservation. A celebrated painter, sculptor, muralist, writer, filmmaker, and music producer, he is one of the most prolific artists anywhere. With one-man shows at art museums and art collected by people and corporations in over 100 countries, he has been recognized by the world’s most prestigious organizations, including the United Nations. As an official artist for the United States Olympic Team, he created large-scale art events for the Vancouver and Beijing Olympics.

This year Wyland Galleries celebrates its 35th anniversary. They started with a small gallery in the renowned art community of Laguna Beach; and, as the response to his art and mission grew, Wyland Galleries expanded to galleries across the United States from Hawaii to Florida.

Power to the People

This 24"x36" four-color poster is signed by artist John August Swanson. Adapted from an earlier hand printed serigraph, it is a very compelling piece for him because of his experiences in looking for work. It connects with his family life, as his mother, an immigrant from Mexico, was a garment worker who had joined the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union in the early 1930s. He states that "it is my hope that this art work might serve as an inspiration and a tool for those working to organize those who have been displaced and marginalized by economic injustice into compassionate communities empowered to implement justice and bring peace.

John August Swanson, born in 1938 in Los Angeles, paints in oil, watercolor, acrylic and mixed media, and is an independent printmaker of limited edition serigraphs, lithographs, etchings, and other prints. Since 1969, his art has reflected his strong heritage of storytelling that includes Bible stories and social celebrations. His parables optimistically embrace life and one's spiritual transformation.

One of Mr. Swanson's beautiful works, "The Great Catch," which recounts a story from the fifth chapter of Luke about struggle, patience, faith, and abundance in Christ, can be seen in the lobby of the Grimm Student Union at Concordia University.

Struggle for Justice

This black and white poster, signed by artist John August Swanson, was first created in 1972 to help raise money for the United Farm Workers. The original printing was limited to one hundred posters. His idea for the poster design was to use a statement from Cesar Chavez's 1968 speech to create a "newspaper," a montage of photos and lettering. In 2011, he decided the poster should be reprinted and revised it by adding a few new images and other minor changes. It is the artist's hope that this poster will bring Chavez's powerful words to students, to union workers, and to those who struggle for justice; and he hopes it will encourage, strengthen and empower those who seek a just and peaceful world.

FABIENNE JOUVIN is an accomplished artist and designer who has had a passion for mixing cultural designs ever since she roamed the world, from China to Cuba. Fabienne was invited to come to the villages where our ceramics are spun and hand-painted to create decorative accessories exclusively for Tozai Home. By immersing herself in the Asian culture, she was able to utilize the talents and abilities of these crafts people. The results are a fabulous collection of ceramics from vases to boxes with themes and colors that are soft, pleasant and easy to live with.
